Message from the Director

To meet the challenges of the ever-changing world, the one and only resource that we can safely and constantly turn back to is human resource. Just as man turns inward to find strength and vigor to battle the vagaries of life, the nation has to turn and look to manpower for development. In an endeavour to empower the human resource with the necessary education, the Rajasthan Flying Institutes of Institutions prepares the young citizens of today to meet the future confidently. With dedicated and high-calibre professional expertise, the institution imparts the best of theory and practical knowledge and sends forth professionals of every discipline into the global society. It is my privilege to welcome the fresh batch of students and I can assure, that they are in an institution which would help them to be at the forefront of technological revolutions. They can be confident of their competence and their quality standards, also of their integrity and their ability to deliver. Because these are the hallmarks of the various institutions in the Rajasthan Flying Institutes.
